How to Apply Click on Apply at the bottom of the opportunity to start your application.

Description The U.S. Army Institute of Surgical Research is offering registered nursing internships at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

What will I be doing?

You will join a community of scientists and researchers in an effort to research combat casualty care and will learn from military and civilian researchers and clinicians at the USAISR, SAMMC, & outside university collaborators. Furthermore, you will take part in the facilitation of integrated, complementary and inter-disciplinary approaches to combat casualty care and address procedural & regulatory research, will learn medical data abstraction from patient care records and data analysis to determine patterns of interest/outcomes. Finally, you will have the opportunity to present these findings and learn manuscript preparation and submission.

Where will I be located? San Antonio, Texas

What is the anticipated start date?

Exact start dates will be determined at the time of selection and in coordination with the selected candidate. Applications are reviewed on an ongoing basis and internships/fellowships will be filled as qualified candidates are identified.

What is the appointment length?

This appointment is a twelve month research appointment, with the possibility to be renewed for additional research periods. Appointments may be extended depending on funding availability, project assignment, program rules, and availability of the participant.

What are the benefits?

You will receive a stipend to be determined by USAISR. Stipends are typically based on a participant's academic standing, discipline, experience, and research facility location. Other benefits may include the following:

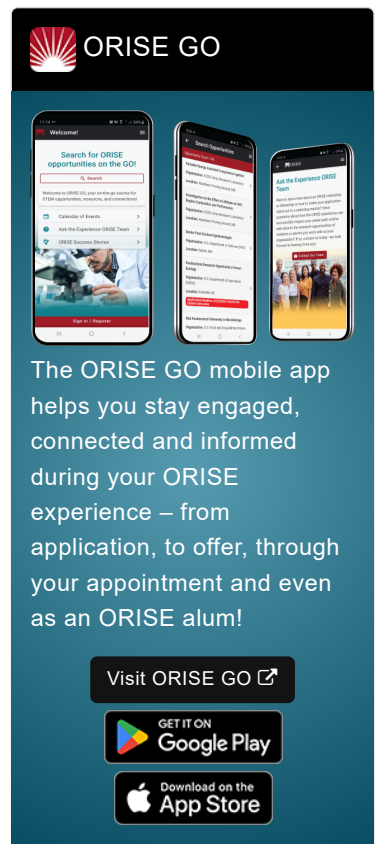

- Participants are eligible to purchase health insurance through ORISE.
- Relocation Allowance
- Training and Travel Allowance

About USAISR

The En route Care Research Center (ECRC) is located in the Army Institute of Surgical Research at Fort Sam Houston, TX. The research team includes active duty emergency medicine physicians, scientists, research coordinators, and a program manager. The center conducts research related to the en route care of combat casualties from point of injury to and between medical treatment facilities.
