Description The U.S. Department of Energy's (DOE) Office of International Affairs (IA) seeks motivated students, postgraduates, and faculty to take on today's pressing climate challenges through a full-time fellowship with its DOE Science, Technology, and Policy (STP) Program. Fellowships will conclude in 2022.

As an ORISE participant, you will gain insight into the federal government's role in the creation and implementation of policies that will affect energy technology development; contribute to the implementation of energy policies by applying scientific and technical expertise to the development of solutions to issues of importance to the DOE; and continue your education and involvement in areas that support the DOE mission either in a technical or policy-related role. You will become part of a group of highly-trained scientists and engineers with the education, background, and experience to be part of the workforce that supports the DOE's mission in the future.
