Description The Minority Serving Institutions Partnership Program (MSIPP) Internships is a new program to promote the education and development of the next generation workforce in critical science, engineering, technology, and math (STEM) related disciplines that complement current and future missions of DOE national laboratories. The MSIPP Internship program is designed to provide an enhanced training environment for next generation scientists and engineers by exposing them to research challenges unique to our industry.

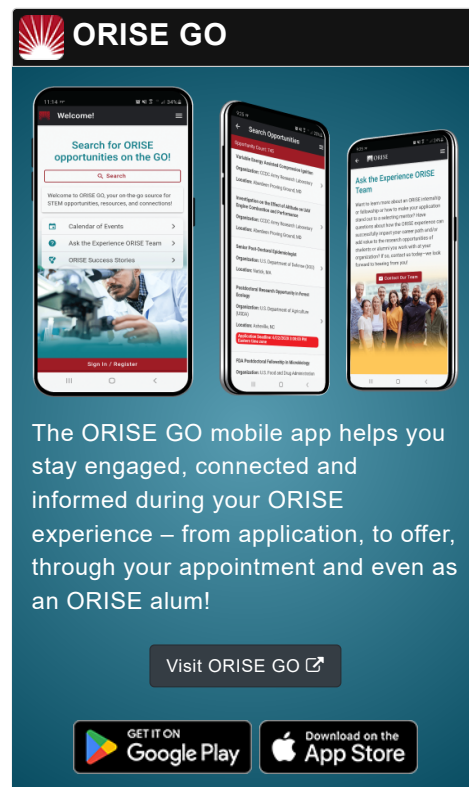

MSIPP Interns will be given the opportunity to complete Summer Internships aligned with ongoing U.S. Department of Energy Office of Environmental Management (DOE-EM) research under the direction of a host national laboratory. The internship will be performed at the host national laboratory, utilizing their facilities and equipment under the guidance of a research staff member.

Minority Serving Institutions are institutions of higher education enrolling populations with significant percentages of undergraduate minority students.

The project involves testing the uptake pathway of mercury by the bacteria involved in mercury methylation. We are expressing two proteins that we hypothesized and testing their involvement in mercury binding in vitro. Protein expression and purification. Testing ligand binding, protein crystallization.

Qualifications The successful candidate will be a junior or senior undergraduate studying biochemistry. Previous experience in basic biochemistry laboratory techniques and protein expression/purification is preferred.
