

Opportunity Title: Health Education and Communications Fellowship
Opportunity Reference Code: CDC-NCEH-2016-0050

Organization Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)

Reference Code CDC-NCEH-2016-0050

How to Apply A complete application consists of:

- An application
- Transcripts – Click here for detailed information about acceptable transcripts
- A current resume/CV, including academic history, employment history, relevant experiences, and publication list
- Two educational or professional references

All documents must be in English or include an official English translation.

If you have questions, send an email to CDCrpp@orau.org. Please include the reference code for this opportunity in your email.

Description A fellowship opportunity is available in the Division of Environmental Hazards and Health Effects (DEHHE) within the National Center for Environmental Health (NCEH) at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta, Georgia.

The participant will gain experience in the Division of Environmental Hazards and Health Effects, Radiation Studies Branch, as part of the Education and Communication Team. This project will provide critical support to the Branch's emergency response and radiation health effects research programs. Information and training developed in the branch is disseminated to scientists, public health officials, health practitioners, other specific target audiences, and the public in order to reduce illness and death from radiation-related events and practices.

The fellow will support the Education and Communication Team by applying health communications and public health skills to plan, develop, implement, and evaluate health education and health communication projects, including developing and editing internal and external web pages using effective web page design principles. He/she will also support branch communications staff as well as division, center, and agency communication employees.

This program, administered by ORAU through its contract with the U.S. Department of Energy to manage the Oak Ridge Institute for Science and Education, was established through an interagency agreement between DOE and CDC. The initial appointment is for one year, but may be renewed upon recommendation of CDC contingent on the availability of funds. The participant will receive a monthly stipend commensurate with educational level and experience. Proof of health insurance is required for participation in this program. The appointment is full-time at CDC in the Atlanta, Georgia, area. Participants do not become employees of CDC or the program administrator, and there are no fringe benefits paid.

Opportunity Title: Health Education and Communications Fellowship

Opportunity Reference Code: CDC-NCEH-2016-0050

Qualifications Bachelor's or master's degree in a public health discipline such as health communications or health education received within five years of the appointment start date.

- Familiarity with website content management systems and/or graphic design is desirable but not required.

Eligibility Requirements

- Degree: Bachelor's Degree or Master's Degree received within the last 60 month(s).
- Discipline(s):
  - Life Health and Medical Sciences (2 )