Application Deadline 2/17/2025 8:00:00 AM Eastern Time Zone

Description Are you interested in learning how federal agencies collaborate to meet the nation's energy-related goals?

Through the DOE Scholars Program, the U.S. Department of Energy Federal Energy Management Program \(FEMP\) is offering college students and recent graduates internships opportunities during the 2025 summer/winter to learn about energy management initiatives in the federal government. Selected candidates will be assigned to different federal agencies.

U.S. Veterans are encouraged to apply. Preference will be given to U.S. Veterans to allow them the opportunity to use the technical and leadership skills gained during their military tenure. Veteran candidates who have received a college degree in an appropriate science, technology, engineering or mathematics discipline within ten years of their starting date are eligible for appointments.

As a FEMP Scholar, you will:

- Receive hands-on experiences and have day-to-day interactions with energy managers at federal agencies that will provide you with an understanding of energy management at the federal government.
- Learn about how energy research is accomplished at a national laboratory.
- Enhance your academic and professional preparation to pursue a career in energy-related disciplines.

Possible Locations

The agencies listed below have hosted FEMP Scholars in the past and may consider sponsoring additional Scholars this year. There is no guarantee that specific agencies will have Scholars each year.

- U.S. Environmental Protection Agency
- National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA)
- U.S. Air Force
- U.S. Army
- U.S. Department of Agriculture
- U.S. Department of Commerce
- U.S. Department of Defense
- U.S. Department of Homeland Security
- U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs
- U.S. Navy
