Description A fellowship opportunity is currently available at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), Office of the Assistant Secretary for Health (OASH), in Region IX, San Francisco, California.

The Office of the Regional Health Administrator supports the priorities and initiatives of the Secretary for Health, Assistant Secretary for Health, and the OASH Program Offices. ORISE Fellows have a unique opportunity to lead public health activities, develop expertise in a variety of prevention-focused public health issues, and receive professional development from Regional Health Administrators who are senior-level public health officials. They support cross-cutting HHS and OASH prevention efforts, with a focus on chronic disease prevention and health promotion activities.

The fellow may have the opportunity to be involved in the following activities:

- Designing and leading prevention activities for major public health initiatives.
- Engaging communities and other stakeholders in involvement with activities surrounded by public health awareness campaigns.
- Researching and gaining knowledge of HHS and other federal departments and officials through travel, representation, meetings, and public forums.
- Receiving mentorship from senior federal health officials including assistance with training and technical assistance.
- Participating in key regional meetings about critical public health issues of the moment.
- Attending meetings with regional staff and colleagues
