Description The EPA Environmental Research and Business Support Program has an immediate opening for an Environmental Administrative Support position with the Office of Research and Development at the EPA's facility in Washington, DC.

The Office of Research and Development at the EPA supports high-quality research to improve the scientific basis for decisions on national environmental issues and help EPA achieve its environmental goals. Research is conducted in a broad range of environmental areas by scientists in EPA laboratories and at universities across the country.

This position is located in the Immediate Office of the Assistant Administrator (IOAA), Office of Research and Development (ORD). ORD functions as the principle scientific component of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). It is responsible for an Agency-wide program for assessing the known effect of environmental pollutants in varying exposure situations in health and ecological systems, and conducting an integrated research and development program for the Agency. Within ORD, IOAA is the primary office responsible for matters affecting the operational effectiveness of ORD, including requirements as they apply and impact subordinate ORD organizations for specific programs and initiatives within the Agency. The front office staff in IOAA play a critical role in supporting ORD's operational issues and serve in a variety of functions.

The selected candidate shall assist the IOAA with administrative duties required to support and maintain a robust front office program, including managing, organizing and supporting all the varied administrative activities needed to keep the day-to-day office activities running smoothly. The candidate may be required to assist ORD executive senior leadership, and so must be mature and professional in their conduct. He/she shall also assist in the provision of necessary support to the Chief of Staff and Deputy Chief of Staff as they fulfill their obligations throughout the day.

Administrative responsibilities shall include assisting in the following activities/functions:

- Compiling daily calendars, creating briefing books, answering phones, obtaining signatures on time sensitive
