Description The mission of United States Army Public Health Center (APHC) is to promote health and prevent disease, injury, and disability of soldiers and military retirees, their families, and Army civilian employees; and assures effective execution of full spectrum veterinary service for Army and DOD veterinary missions. Their vision is to be a world-class provider of public health services across the Army and DOD. For more information about APHC, please visit https://phc.amedd.army.mil.

> Under the direction of the mentor, the participant will support the laboratory data review process improvement project. In the course of this project, the participant will learn to perform quality data review of laboratory data generated by in-house and contractor laboratories using EPA, OSHA, ASTM and various other analytical methods performed by a Public Health laboratory. The ORISE participant will need a broad base of knowledge across instruments and methods in order to assist with the data review process and the project. 5+ years experience in an environmental laboratory would be the minimum acceptable to participate in the project. The ultimate goal of the project is to produce a checklist that can be used across analyses and contractors to ensure that the required information (comments, required QC, initial calibration, continuing calibration verifications, blanks, etc.) is included in the data packet.

> Skills: Experience using Microsoft Office software applications (i.e. Word, Excel, PowerPoint, etc.), Adobe, and a LIMS system.

Appointment Length

This is a twelve month research appointment and can be extended for additional one year terms. Appointments may be extended depending on funding availability, project assignment, program rules, and availability of the participant.

Participant Benefits

Participants will receive a stipend to be determined by APHC. Stipends are typically based on the participant's academic standing, discipline, experience, and research facility location. Other
