EPA Office/Lab and Location: One research opportunity in water policy and regulation is available at the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), Office of Water (OW), in the Immediate Office (IO) of the Assistant Administrator for Water located in Washington, DC.

Research Project: OW guides implementation of the national water program under statutory authorities such as the Clean Water Act (CWA), Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) and Marine Protection, Research and Sanctuaries Act (MPRSA). (<https://www.epa.gov/aboutepa/about-office-water>).

The goal of this office is to research, evaluate, and organize data and information on clean water and drinking water issues, programs and regulations. This office analyzes policy and guidance data related to nutrients; drinking water contaminants such as lead and copper; green infrastructure; and other water research projects.

Learning Objectives:

- Learn how national environmental programs are managed, how environmental policies are researched, evaluated and implemented, and how federal programs interact with state, local and tribal partners.
- Learn how to review of regulations, guidance, policies and other key water actions and how to organize these actions for evaluation and publication.
- Learn how to develop an online reference and resource reference center for
